Overdraft Protection Services

Overdraft protection is the kind of service you rarely think about until the moment you need it. For example, you might forget to transfer funds to pay your bills or just lose track of the balance in your account. You may avoid paying overdraft and item returned fees and enjoy peace of mind with BMO Harris Overdraft Protection Services. We offer two Overdraft Protection Services: Overdraft Funding, which transfers funds from a linked deposit account, and an Overdraft Protection Line of Credit, which transfers funds from a line of credit. Both services may help meet your needs and you only pay for them when you use them. These Overdraft Protection Services can transfer funds to pay checks, ACH, bill payments, transfers, and ATM and everyday debit card transactions. See the inside of this brochure for more information about these services.

It's important to realize that, although Overdraft Protection Services have fees associated with their use, they can be invaluable in certain circumstances and may be less expensive than overdraft and item returned fees. Best of all, it costs nothing to keep them available just in case you need them.

What is an overdraft?

You have an overdraft any time you have a negative balance in your checking account. For example, your account can become negative when you use your debit or ATM card, write a check, do a telephone or online transfer, authorize an automatic payment or are charged a fee and you don’t have sufficient available funds in your account.

How overdrafts are handled at BMO Harris

At our discretion, we pay checks, automatic bill payments and other transactions that overdraft your account. We will decline ATM and everyday debit card transactions that would overdraft your account unless you select the Overdraft Program for ATM and Everyday Debit Card Transactions (opt-in) described on the next panel. We do not guarantee that we will always pay or authorize any type of transaction even if we have paid similar items in the past.

You agree to immediately repay us the amount of any overdraft, including fees. Any deposits into your checking account will be used to repay the overdraft and associated fees.

Please see inside for fees associated with overdrawing your account.

Overdraft Program for ATM and Everyday Debit Card Transactions

By opting-in to this Program, you authorize us to use our discretion to pay ATM and everyday debit card transactions that would overdraft your account. If you opt out of this Program, and we use our discretion to pay those transactions, the Overdraft Fee described on the inside will apply to the transactions.

You can opt-in to the Overdraft Program for ATM and Everyday Debit Card Transactions or revoke your election at any time by calling 1-888-340-2265, coming in to any branch and talking with a BMO Harris Banker, or logging in to BMO Digital Banking and modifying the overdraft preferences on your account. This Program is not available for the BMO Harris Smart Money Account.

In order for you to make an informed decision about which Overdraft Services may be best for you, you should understand the basics of what an overdraft is and how overdrafts are handled at BMO Harris.

Fees Associated with Overdrawing Your Account

Overdraft Fee: You will be charged a $36 fee for each item we pay (regardless of the amount of the item) when your account is overdrawn more than $50 after all items are posted to the account. We will charge a maximum combined total of three (3) Overdraft Fees and/or Item Returned Fees ($36 per business day) if this fee does not apply to ATM and everyday debit card transactions unless you authorized us to pay them. This fee does not apply to bank fees and service charges that overdraw your account.

Item Returned Fee (NSF fee): You will be charged a $16 fee each time we return an item unpaid because your account does not have sufficient available funds to pay the item. We will charge a maximum combined total of three (3) Overdraft Fees and/or Item Returned Fees ($36 per business day). These fees do not apply to the BMO Harris Smart Money™ Account

BMO Harris Smart Money™ Account: If you don’t want to incur overdraft and item returned fees on your account, consider the BMO Harris Smart Money™ Account. When you have a BMO Harris Smart Money™ Account, we will return as unpaid items that overdraw this account and you will not be charged a fee, and will decline ATM and everyday debit card transactions that would overdraw it. If we are unable to return an item that overdraws your account, we will use our discretion to pay it and you will not be charged a fee.

Helpful tips

Avoid overdrafts with good money management

Here are a few easy ways to keep track of your funds in your BMO Harris checking account:

• Monitor your transactions, check your account balances on a daily basis and transfer available funds between your eligible BMO Harris accounts any time you need to, 24/7.
• Use BMO Digital Banking online or from your mobile device.*
• Sign up to receive email and/or SMS text alerts about your accounts.
• Use BMO Harris Bank by Phone® at 1-888-340-2265.

Other good ideas

• Track your daily spending and establish a budget.
• Keep enough funds in your account when writing checks, because checks now clear faster than ever.
• Consider using direct deposit for your paycheck and other recurring deposits. Funds may be available faster and you don’t have to wait until you can get to the bank.
• Download our mobile app and you can deposit checks using your device.

As a reminder

The order in which you write checks and authorize other withdrawals is not necessarily the same order in which funds are subtracted from your account. The order in which items are posted to your account affects whether you incur overdraft and item returned fees. Please see Section 2.C of the Deposit Account Agreement for Personal and Business Accounts for details on the order in which items are posted to your account.
